CONTENDING FOR THE FAITH

Washington National Cathedral to hold Friday Muslim Prayers

November 14, 2014 -- Voice of America News reports: "Prayer carpets have been laid out under the soaring arches of the Washington National Cathedral for an unprecedented Muslim worship service in one of America's best-known churches.

Church leaders and their Muslim partners say they hope the Friday Jumaa prayers will send a message of interfaith brotherhood that counters extremists' use of religion to justify hatred and strife.

The idea came to the cathedral's director of religious liturgy, Rev. Gina Campbell, and South African Ambassador Ebrahim Rasool, who is a Muslim, when they organized an interfaith memorial service for Nelson Mandela last year.

The carpets have been arrayed diagonally in the transept, to the side of the sanctuary, so that worshipers can face in the direction of Mecca without seeing crosses or Christian icons. Muslims are not supposed to pray in view of sacred symbols alien to their faith.

Ambassador Rasool said the service is meant to be both a symbol for America's three million Muslims to feel welcomed in its predominantly Christian society, as well as for Muslims in countries where they are the majority, to show hospitality to people of minority faiths..." (This blasphemous prayer service goes against scores of Biblical verses. Billy Graham's son, Franklin Graham condemned Washington Cathedral for hosting this Muslim prayer service. So does yours truly, Dr. Jack Van Impe. Here's why. There is only one God to whom Christians pray. Our first of the Ten Commandments [not suggestions] is "Thou shalt have no other Gods before Me." Deuteronomy 11:26, - 28 states: "Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse; A blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I command you this day: And a curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods, which ye have not known.")

Franklin Graham condemns Washington Cathedral for hosting Muslim prayer service

November 18, 2014 -- ChristianToday.com reports: "The first Muslim prayer service ever hosted at Washington's National Cathedral, a landmark Christian church in the U.S. capital, was interrupted on Friday by a lone anti-Islamic protester and drew criticism from leading conservative spokesman Rev. Franklin Graham.

Admission to the service was by invitation only and security was tight. It was designed to highlight the need for religious tolerance and for people of faith to reach out beyond their religious boundaries.

The protester, a woman from Michigan who declined to give her name, shouted 'leave our churches alone' and 'Why can't you worship in your mosque?' 'Jesus Christ is on that cross over there,' she yelled. 'Get out of our church. Leave our church alone.'

She was removed from the service by a minister and by cathedral police. After the service, outside the church, the protester said she was not arrested, and was not harmed in the altercation. She did not explain why she disrupted the service.

'I didn't do it for myself,' she said. 'I did it for the Lord.'

Graham, son of evangelist Dr. Billy Graham and one of America's foremost Christian leaders, warned of the danger of obscuring the uniqueness of Christ when he wrote on his Facebook page:

‘It’s sad to see a church open its doors to the worship of anything other than the One True God of the Bible who sent His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, to earth to save us from our sins. Jesus was clear when He said, ‘I am the way the truth and the life. Muslims protest Christian governor in Jakarta: ‘It is forbidden to have an infidel’

November 18, 2014 -- ChristianToday.com reports: “The inauguration of Jakarta’s first Christian governor in 50 years has been delayed to allow for a presidential decree on his appointment, another setback on his contested journey to power.

Deputy Governor Basuki Tjahaja Purnama had been scheduled to be sworn in today. He succeeds Joko Widodo, who last month became President of Indonesia.

However, it is not the first obstacle Chinese Christian Purnama, who is known by the nickname Ahok, has faced.

His rise to power has been contested by religious hardliners who have held multiple protests in Jakarta.

In September, around 200 members of the Islamic Defenders Front (FPI) staged a demonstration in front of a regional legislative building in the capital city. One of the group’s leaders told news agencies that it is ‘forbidden to have an infidel as the head of Jakarta’.

‘Ahok Basuki Tjahaya Purnama, we reject him to be the governor of Jakarta because he has no moral ethics,’ the spokesperson said...”

School bans students from praying together

November 11, 2014 -- WND.com reports: “For the last three years, high-school senior Chase Windebank has been meeting with other students during a designated free period to discuss their Christian faith, pray and even sing together.

But on Sept. 29, the assistant principal of Pine Creek High School in Colorado Springs, Colorado, told the students it has to stop because it violates the ‘separation of church and state.’

Religious discussion gatherings, the school insists, can only take place before or after school hours.

Now, with the help of attorneys from Alliance Defending Freedom, or ADF, Windebank is suing the school to lift the ban and restore what he says are protected First Amendment rights.

‘Far from being unconstitutional, religious speech is expressly protected by the First Amendment,’ says ADF Legal Counsel Matt Sharp, ‘and public schools have no business stopping students from praying together during their free time.’

‘Public schools should encourage the free exchange of ideas,’ adds ADF Senior Legal Counsel Jeremy Tedesco. ‘Instead, this school implemented an ill-conceived ban that singles out religious speech for censorship during free time.’...” (USA Today reports that Christianity is the most hated religion in 162 nations. Muslim terror army eyes expansion to Christian lands

November 24, 2014 -- WND.com reports: “The Muslim jihadist group Boko Haram is eyeing a new offensive that would target Nigeria’s predominantly Christian south, according to Africa analysts.

Yan St-Pierre of the Berlin-based intelligence firm MOSECON, which monitors Boko Haram, said evidence indicates the group has been laying the groundwork for such a move.

‘We call it national-park hopping. They’ve been using the national parks as cover for moves down south. This is what we expect them to be doing. They’re going where the money is in Nigeria,’ St-Pierre said.

The targets are the nation’s oil and its centers of financial power: Port Harcourt, Kalaba, Lagos and Abuja.

‘They’re very slowly setting up these places to operate while everyone focuses on the major attacks. They’re trying to go for the big homeland down south in Nigeria,’ St-Pierre said.

International Christian Concern Africa analyst Cameron Thomas said Boko Haram attacks in the more populous south will inevitably produce more casualties.

Kenya bus attack: Al-Shabab ‘wants religious war’

November 22, 2014 -- BBC News reports: “The slaughter of 28 people on a bus in Kenya is a bid to start a religious war, a senior adviser to President Uhuru Kenyatta has told the BBC.

Abdikadir Mohammed called on Kenyans of ‘all faiths and creeds’ to stand together against the ‘heinous crimes’.

At dawn on Saturday, al-Shabab gunmen attacked the bus in northern Kenya, shooting dead non-Muslim passengers.

The Somalia-based Islamist group has carried out numerous attacks across Kenya since 2011.

The bus was travelling to the capital, Nairobi, when it was stopped in Mandera county, not far from the border with Somalia.

Gunmen separated out non-Muslims by asking passengers to read from the Koran, officials and witnesses said. Those who failed were then shot in the head.

Kenya’s Red Cross confirmed that 28 of the 60 passengers on the bus were killed, 19 men and nine women.

One survivor, Douglas Ochwodho, told how he was singled out to be killed but was not shot and then pretended to be dead among the bodies.

‘The aim is to create conflict between the Muslims and the non-Muslims in this country,’ Mr. Mohammed told the BBC. ‘The aim is to create a religious war, religious strife, in Kenya.’...”

Child terrorists in Jerusalem: ‘We’re ready to die’

November 22, 2014 -- Israel National News reports: “Salah, Hassan, Riyad and Ahmed of Jerusalem’s Shuafat neighborhood - just a handful of the many Arab children aged eight to 13 who, instead of going to school and learning, mask their faces and assault police officers with potentially lethal rocks every single day.

Yedioth Aharonoth interviewed Jerusalem’s youngest Arab terrorists last week, providing a unique look into the minds of those who have forgone their studies and futures for the pursuit of violence. Even more Arab children join them in their attacks after the school bell rings.

‘We are ready to die as martyrs, we have nothing to lose,’ says one Arab child terrorist. ‘Our heads aren’t in studies at all, we are always planning what to do against the police.’

The children mass in their hundreds at the entrance to Shuafat to shoot fireworks at police. In response to the escalation in firework attacks, which can inflict serious wounds, the IDF has given new orders allowing soldiers to respond with live fire, although the firework attacks appear to continue unabated amid the legal backlash officers frequently suffer for defending themselves.

‘Today I didn’t go to school because I want to continue our struggle as a response to the murder of the martyr Ibrahim al-Akari,’ one 13-year-old said, referring to the Hamas terrorist from Shuafat who murdered two Israelis with his van earlier this month.

The criminal child added ‘also all that’s happening at the Al-Aqsa Mosque really annoys us, it’s a holy place for Muslims.’ The Mosque is located on the Temple Mount, the holiest site in Judaism, where the Jordanian Waqf has by fiat forbidden Jewish prayer and Arab rioters attack police on a near daily basis.

And the commitment to violent attacks shows no signs of slackening, with one child saying ‘all of us here are ready to sacrifice our lives and die as martyrs.’...” (The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies. Muslim marauders ‘recruit’ children to fight war

November 13, 2014 -- WND.com reports: “Muslim terrorists in Africa, long exhibiting a willingness to use any method of warfare, now are recruiting children to fight battles, kidnapping them and forcing them into servitude if they are unwilling to cooperate, and even drugging them to get them to complete their jobs, according to an analyst for IntelligenceCommunity.com.

Maha Hamdan, who also is an analyst for Consultancy Africa, told WND the jobs include suicide-bombing missions, acting as human shields for soldiers and filling up the front lines against Nigerian federal troops.

The members of the terrorist group Boko Haram have previously exhibited their willingness to take advantage of children. In April, nearly 300 girls were kidnapped from a school in Chibok, in Borno State, Nigeria. They are still being sought by authorities.

Hamdan briefed WND on the latest moves.

‘Boko Haram attacks raise alarm because, following the new onslaught by Nigerian troops to reclaim seized communities from Boko Haram terrorists in the North East, the insurgents have resorted to using women and children as human shields in order to halt or slow down the troops’ advance,’ Hamdan said.

Some are recruited, some kidnapped and killed.

Nigeria: 46 students killed in school suicide blast

November 11, 2014 -- Israel National News reports: “At least 46 students have been killed in a suicide bomb attack at a school assembly in Potiskum in the northeastern region of Nigeria. The suicide bomber was dressed up as a student, said police, when he blew himself up at a boys’ school in Yobe state.

According to the BBC, police said that Islamist terror group Boko Haram could be behind the blast.

The state government of Yobe has shut down all public schools around Potiskum and condemned the government for not tackling the group.

Governor Ibrahim Gaidam said that ‘Urgent action must be taken right now to restore a fast-waning public confidence by doing whatever it takes to stop the escalating violence.’

Man embeds computer chips in hands to store Bitcoin

November 11, 2014 -- The London Daily Telegraph reports: “A Dutch entrepreneur has had two wireless computer chips implanted under the skin in his hands to allow him to store digital currencies like Bitcoin inside his body.

Martijn Wismeijer is the founder of Mr. Bitcoin, a company which installs and operates crypto-currency cash machines in and around his native Amsterdam and across Europe.

This month he chose to undergo a painful procedure to embed NFC (near-field communication) chips under his skin. These chips can be read by a range of devices including smartphones like the Samsung Galaxy S5 and Apple iPhone 6, and can be adapted for a range of uses.

Wismeijer has already experimented with storing crypto-currencies such as Bitcoin on the chip, but he adds that it is vital to encrypt them to prevent theft – especially if it’s common knowledge that you have a chip and tell people where it can be found.

He had used it to store the private keys for his Bitcoin wallets. In the end he decided that it’s not yet secure enough for him to use permanently, but said that the experiment was a success.

He has also used the chips to program an alarm clock to only switch off when he places one or both of them against a sensor – forcing him to wake up on time in the mornings. He also hopes to fit an NFC-enabled door lock at home so that he can ditch his house keys and instead just touch his palm to the door frame in order to gain access...” (The headline above is coming. Caliphate in Europe: Sweden cedes control of Muslim areas

November 7, 2014 -- Investors.com reports: “Political Correctness: The perils of multiculturalism and open borders have reached critical mass in Sweden. There are Muslim enclaves where postal, fire and other essential services — even police officers themselves — require police protection.

A police report released last month identifies 55 of these ‘no-go zones’ in Sweden. These zones are similar to others that have popped up in Europe in recent years. They formed as large Muslim populations emigrating to politically correct and tolerant European states refuse to assimilate and set up virtual states within a state where the authorities fear to tread.

Soeren Kern of the Hudson Institute has documented the proliferation of these zones. They are de facto Muslim micro-states under Shariah law that reject Western values, society and legal systems. In these districts non-Muslims are expected to conform to the dictates of fundamentalist Islam or face violent consequences.

Islamic State ‘Caliph’: We will not stop until Rome is conquered

November 14, 2014 -- Breitbart.com reports: “The Islamic State released a letter on Thursday, which it claims was written by its ‘Khalifah,’ Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi.

In the letter, Baghdadi explained that his subordinates were carrying out their Muslim duty to wage jihad against the Kufir, or nonbelievers. He also revealed an obsessive, seething hatred of Jews. He blamed--in Hitler-like fashion--the Jews for ‘plundering’ Muslim economies and installing corrupt dictators to run Islamic lands. In noting the recent date of his letter, Baghdadi congratulated Islamist entities throughout the Middle East for pledging to his terror group, while also castigating the recent deployment of 1,500 additional U.S. troops into the region. Baghdadi also revealed that the Islamic State will not stop its aggression until Rome is conquered by its forces.

Multiple media outlets claimed last week that Baghdadi was either seriously wounded or killed in an airstrike on an Islamic State position.

ISIS to annex more Arab lands into caliphate

November 18, 2014 -- WND.com reports: “ISIS leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi is still very much alive after premature reports of his death, announcing that a number of provinces in Arab countries have declared their loyalty to his Islamic caliphate.

Sources say the new annexations will only create a more complex threat environment for the U.S.-led anti-ISIS coalition.

Baghdadi’s rare public announcement is the first time there has been any official acknowledgement of such annexations since ISIS, also known as the Islamic State, took over parts of Syria and Iraq some six months ago and declared the creation of a caliphate.

‘Whether Western governments want to admit it or not, the reality is that the Islamic State has expanded in a non-contiguous manner outside its base and now has authority over satellite groups and small amounts of territory outside Iraq and the Levant,’ said Aaron Zelin of the Washington Institute.

‘The Islamic State’s ability to expand its reach and its writ will depend on how successful this now-formalized annexation model proves to be,’ Zelin said. ‘For now, and perhaps for the long term, this means the U.S.-led coalition will have to deal with a more complex threat environment.’

In his announcement, Baghdadi said he has accepted bayah – an oath of allegiance to a leader – from jihadi groups in Saudi Arabia and Yemen, and the Jund al-Khilafah in Algeria, the Majis Shura Shabab al-Islam in Libya and the Ansar Beit al-Maqdis in the Sinai.

His declaration officially ends the separate identification of the groups by their own name and ‘the announcement of new wilayat (provinces) of the Islamic State and the appointment of wulat (governors) for them,’ according to Baghdadi...” (Warning America and President Obama – if the above headline is not stopped by boots on the ground, our great American and Canadian nations may face Islamic boots on our soil.)

Boko Haram attack kills at least 45 in Nigeria

Hamas, Islamic Jihad praise Jerusalem synagogue massacre

November 18, 2014 -- Israel National News reports: "Hamas and Islamic Jihad have hailed this morning's massacre at a Jerusalem synagogue, in which four worshipers were murdered and many more wounded by Palestinian terrorists.

In a statement, the Hamas terrorist group said it was 'a response to the murder of the martyr Yusuf Ramuni,' referring to a Palestinian bus driver who committed suicide on Monday but whose death Islamists have been blaming on 'settlers.'

'The operation in Jerusalem is a response to the murder of the martyr Yusuf Ramuni and to the series of crimes by the occupier at Al-Aqsa and Hamas calls to continue these operations,' Hamas spokesman Sami Abu Zuhri said in a statement.

'Hamas calls for more operations like it.'

Islamic Jihad echoed the comments in a separate statement.

'Islamic Jihad salutes the operation in Jerusalem which is a natural response to the crimes of the occupier,' it said..." (It is reported that when Hamas and Palestinians heard the report about the slaughter of the Rabbis. They sang and danced in the streets holding

Iran's Khamenei proposes plan for Israel's elimination - on Twitter

November 9, 2014 -- Haaretz reports: "Iran's Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei has put forth a plan to eliminate Israel, which he believes will be accepted by the international arena.

In a neat table posted on Khamenei's official Twitter account on Sunday, the ayatollah answers nine key questions on why – and how – this plan is to be implemented.

In the post, Khamenei accuses Israel of seeking to realize its goals 'by means of infanticide, homicide, violence & iron fist,' and says that the only way to stop the 'Israeli crimes' is to eliminate the 'fake Zionist regime.'

According to the post, Iran has presented 'international communities' with 'a practical and logical mechanism' aimed at achieving this goal – and it doesn't include a massacre of the region's Jews. Instead, the 'proper way' of eliminating Israel 'would come through a referendum that would encompass 'all the original people of Palestine including Muslims, Christians and Jews wherever they are.'

The post stipulates that the referendum would instate a government in Palestine, but does not specify how. This government will then decide whether the 'Jewish immigrants who have been persuaded into emigration to Palestine' can remain in the country or should return to 'their home countries.'

While the 'usurper Zionists' are not expected to accept the proposal easily, Khamenei believes that the 'fair and logical plan' can be 'properly understood by global public opinion and can enjoy the supports of the independent nations and governments.'..."
