ISIS to 'brothers residing in America': Kill U.S. military personnel

March 22, 2015 -- Breitbart.com reports: "Islamic State has posted online what it says are the names, U.S. addresses and photos of 100 American military service members, and called upon its 'brothers residing in America' to kill them.

The Pentagon said after the information was posted on the Internet that it was investigating the matter. 'I can't confirm the validity of the information, but we are looking into it,' a U.S. defense official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said on Saturday.

'We always encourage our personnel to exercise appropriate OPSEC (operations security) and force protection procedures,' the official added.

In the posting, a group referring to itself as the 'Islamic State Hacking Division' wrote in English that it had hacked several military servers, databases and emails and made public the information on 100 members of the U.S. military so that 'lone wolf' attackers can kill them..." (America is in grave trouble. The above report has moved many military families here to remove private information from social media and identifying decals off of their vehicles. In the past eight to ten months, Dutch, British, and Canadian military personnel among others have been cautioned about wearing their uniforms in public among fears of a copycat attack following the May 2013 murder of British soldier Lee Rigby on the streets of London. These are all signs that the return of our Lord is near: "... as the days of Noah were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be" – Matthew 24:37. How was it in Noah's day? ISIS wants to 'blow up' White House, Big Ben and Eiffel Tower

March 13, 2015 -- The National Post reports: "The Islamic State of Iraq and Al-Sham wants to 'blow up your White House, Big Ben, and the Eiffel Tower,' its official spokesman said in an audio message Thursday that claimed the ultraviolent extremist group had expanded its reach into West Africa.

In his first speech in two months, Abu Muhammad al-Adnani accepted a pledge of allegiance from the Nigerian terrorist group Boko Haram and listed the cities 'we want,' from Paris and Rome to Jerusalem and Kabul.

The 28-minute Arabic-language audio, translated by the SITE Intelligence Group, appeared to be an attempt to rally ISIS fighters and intimidate international audiences amid setbacks in Iraq..."

Al-Aqsa Mosque address: May the muslims wage war on America

March 10, 2015 -- Israel National News reports: "In a recent address at the Al-Aqsa Mosque, a Palestinian Arab political researcher launched a verbal tirade against the United States.

The researcher, Ahmad Al-Khatwani, also known as 'Abu Hamza', declared that Muslims should pray that Allah will enable them to wage war on America and vanquish it.

Abu Hamza also expressed his desire that the Muslims ‘raid America on its own land.’ The address was given on February 18, 2015, and was translated by the Middle East Media Research Institute (MEMRI).

‘What is the way to confront this American war on Islam? It is by treating Islam in a political manner, on the basis of the Islamic creed in its political sense. If the Muslims accept Islam as a political and ideological foundation and guide, they will be able to confront America and its war on the Muslims, and they will be able to vanquish it with ease,’ Al-Khatwani said.

‘We pray that Allah will enable the Muslims to wage war on America and against its true terrorism. May He grant victory to the Muslims, and may they raid America on its own land and the land of heresy everywhere,’ he added...”

Task Force chair: Terror cells are in the U.S., Americans should prepare March 11, 2015 -- Breitbart.com reports: “Rep. Robert Pittenger (R-NC), the chairman of the Congressional Task Force on Terrorism and Unconventional Warfare, released a manual to help Americans prepare for terrorist attacks and cybercrimes.

‘There are U.S. cells today of terrorists that we’re all aware of. I chair the Congressional Task Force on Terrorism, and so I’m conscious of the concerns, and I just think we would be wise as a country to prepare ourselves better for what could happen,’ Rep. Pittenger told Breitbart News when asked to explain his motive for releasing the Terrorism Preparedness Manual.

He noted that Americans are the targets of a number of terrorist groups including the Islamic State (ISIS/ISIL) and al-Qaeda.

‘There are folks in ISIS, being trained by ISIS overseas right now who have American passports and European passports and they have easy access to the U.S.,’ explained the North Carolina lawmaker...”

FBI chief: Lone-wolf attacks by IS recruits a key concern

March 13, 2015 -- Voice of America News reports: “The radicalization of Americans by Islamic State and other groups, particularly through sophisticated use of social media, is a top concern for the FBI as it grapples with evolving terrorism threats, Director James Comey said Thursday.

Like other militant groups, Islamic State, also known as ISIL, IS, and ISIS, has called for lone-wolf attacks in Western countries and has specifically encouraged attacks on soldiers, law enforcement officers and the intelligence community, Comey said at a Senate appropriations subcommittee budget hearing.

Comey referred to the group’s efforts to recruit Americans to join Islamic State fighting in Syria and Iraq, then have them return to the United States to commit acts of terrorism.

‘ISIL’s widespread reach through the Internet and social media is most concerning as the group has proven dangerously competent at employing such tools for its nefarious strategy,’ Comey told the panel as he presented his $8.48 billion budget request for fiscal 2016. ‘This poses an enormous challenge to us: to find the people who are responding to that siren song.’

National Intelligence Director

James Clapper said this month that about 180 Americans had traveled to Syria to join Islamist militants and about 40 had returned to the United States. Comey called the threats posed by such foreign fighters and from homegrown violent extremists ‘extremely dynamic.’ He did not cite updated figures on American foreign fighters before the panel recessed to go into classified session...”

Secret Iranian handbook calls for EMP attack on America

March 20, 2015 -- WND.com reports: “A ‘secret’ Iranian military handbook, American officials say, confirms that the Islamic Republic of Iran is including in its arsenal a plan to launch a nuclear electromagnetic pulse attack on the American national grid system.

To carry out such an attack, from a high-altitude nuclear blast, would require Iran to have not only the missiles to launch such a device but also the technology to produce a nuclear explosion.

The revelation comes as the United States, along with the P5+1 countries that comprise the United Nations Security Council, is about to finalize negotiations over Iran’s nuclear development program.

There have been concerns raised that Iran still has the intention of making nuclear bombs using the technology in that program, and the negotiations may not do enough to prevent it...”

(Our military is taking this threat seriously. The Pentagon has just awarded Raytheon a $700-million contract to install new equipment in the Cheyenne Mountain Complex in Colorado which for years was the headquarters of the North American Aerospace Defense

Command [NORAD]. NORAD moved its command center out of Cheyenne Mountain in 2006, but has maintained it as a back-up site. Cheyenne Mountain is EMP-hardened, or protected from an EMP attack. The EMP threat can cause an entire nation to darken for months as all electrical service is finished as a nuclear bomb exploded at 200 miles above the earth, from 200 miles out at sea, allows the explosive materials to descend from space and mingle with radioactive materials on earth resulting in mass devastation. Nothing can equal this disastrous event. Jeremiah 51:32 states: "...the passages are stopped [communication is disrupted]...and the men of war are affrightened.")

THE RUSSIAN BEAR AWAKENS

Putin stages huge military drills in game of 'brinkmanship' with West

March 23, 2015 -- SpaceDaily.com reports: "Mammoth Russian military drills ordered by President Vladimir Putin from the Pacific to the Black Sea are designed to send a message to the West: keep your distance and don't overplay your hand on Ukraine, observers say.

Since the start of the Ukraine crisis more than a year ago, Russia has flexed its muscles with a series of war games but the scale of the latest military exercises -- including sending nuclear bombers to Crimea and ballistic missiles to Kaliningrad in central Europe -- has triggered a series of new questions.

Experts say whatever the purpose of the latest maneuvers involving tens of thousands of troops, the intent is clear: to show Putin's Russia will stop at nothing to protect its interests.

Military analyst Pavel Felgenhauer said Russia was pursuing a two-pronged strategy: using 'nuclear blackmail' to try to press the West into making concessions amid sanctions over Ukraine while making sure its forces are ready for any full-scale military confrontation.

'This is brinkmanship, balancing on the brink of war,' he told AFP, adding that in the current atmosphere of shattered ties with the West the Kremlin is not ruling out any scenarios..." (Russia is warming up for Armageddon. Russia flexes muscles with Arctic military drills March 17, 2015 -- SpaceDaily.com reports: "Russian President Vladimir Putin on Monday ordered a drill of some 38,000 troops in the Arctic as part of a major show of strength amid tensions with the West over Ukraine.

Putin put the Northern Fleet on full combat readiness in a snap inspection of Moscow's military power in the strategic region.

'New challenges and threats to our military security demand a further raising of the military capabilities of our armed forces,' Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu said.

A military spokesman said that some 5,000 troops were also being drilled in Russia's far-east and a further 500 close to the volatile southern Caucasus region, news agencies reported.

The drills are the latest in a succession of large-scale military maneuvers that Moscow has ordered around the vast nation with relations with the West at a post-Cold War low over the crisis in Ukraine..."

Northcom: Russian cruise missile threat to U.S. grows

March 22, 2015 -- The Washington Free Beacon reports: "Russia is developing a long-range cruise missile that poses a new threat to the United States, the commander of the U.S. Northern Command warned this week.

'Russia is progressing toward its goal of deploying long-range, conventionally-armed cruise missiles with ever increasing stand-off launch distances on its heavy bombers, submarines, and surface combatants, augmenting the Kremlin's toolkit of flexible deterrent options short of the nuclear threshold,' Adm. William Gortney, Northcom chief who heads the U.S.-Canadian North American Aerospace Defense Command

(NORAD) said Thursday.

'Should these trends continue, over time NORAD will face increased risk in our ability to defend North America against Russian cruise missile threats,' he said in prepared testimony to the House Armed Services subcommittee on strategic forces..."

CONTENDING FOR THE FAITH

Ex-SEALs chaplain faces ax for Christian beliefs

March 10, 2015 -- WND.com reports: "A chaplain who used to provide services to Navy SEALs, Lt. Commander Wes Modder, could be booted from the military for failing to 'show tolerance and respect' on issues of faith – or, more specifically, for failing to water down his biblical views of homosexuality.

Modder's troubles began in December, when his assistant came to his Naval Nuclear Power Training Command office in Goose Creek, S.C., with a couple of Equal Opportunity representatives bearing a five-page grievance against the chaplain, Fox News reported.

The officials said the complaints focused on Modder's views of 'same-sex relationships [and] marriages, homosexuality, different standards of respect for men and women, premarital sex and masturbation.' In it, he was accused of failing to show 'tolerance and respect' and failing to 'function in the diverse and pluralistic environment' of the base...

Modder – who is a highly-decorated military member described by colleagues as the 'best of the best' – then hired an attorney, Michael Berry with the Liberty Institute. And Berry's thoughts? That Modder was being set up and targeted because of his Christian faith..." (I reported a similar occurrence in the January

New report confirms Christians in Britain face widespread discrimination

March 16, 2015 -- Breitbart.com reports: "Lord Carey, a former Archbishop of Canterbury, has called on Christians to regain confidence in their faith and to speak about it. 'It is simply a matter of freedom of speech,' he has said. His comments were prompted by a recent report which has found that Christians living in Britain are increasingly afraid of revealing their religious beliefs for fear of persecution.

In August 2014 the Equality and Human Rights Commission put out a call for evidence for what is believed to be the biggest survey into social attitudes to religious beliefs, including atheism. Over the next three months they received 2,483 submissions of evidence, of which the vast majority, 1,030, came from Christians. Atheists were the next most represented group, with 188 submissions.

The report's 200 pages detail a whole range of examples, experienced by people who follow major faiths, minor faiths, or no faith at all, of discrimination and ridicule. But discrimination against Christians in particular was 'a prominent theme'. as followers of Christ felt that 'Christianity had lost its place as the predominant religion in the UK relative to secular views.'

Christians as a group reported that 'It did not seem acceptable to criticise other religions in the workplace whereas anyone could criticise Christianity;' that 'the ability to express Christian views in the workplace was believed to be opposed by employees who were LGB, by followers of other religions such as Islam and Hinduism, and by people who had no religion or were Atheists;' and that 'the 'devotions' of Muslim employees were regarded as more protected under equality legislation than Christian ones.'..." (Great persecution will soon overtake most Christians in a majority of the world. USA Today reported that Christianity is the most hated religion in the world. “Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness’ sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. However: “Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.” – Revelation 2:10. Discrimination revealed: UK Christians have to keep faith hidden March 12, 2015 -- ChristianToday.com reports: “The little Christian girl had been taught in church that God created the universe.

When she repeated this belief at school, the teacher ridiculed her in front of the class and said only ‘religious nutters’ held such beliefs.

This is just one of the stories of discrimination against Christians in the workplace uncovered in a new consultation, which also found evidence that atheists were being discriminated against by some Christians.

Employees feel under increasing pressure to keep their religion hidden at work and they also feel discriminated against when it comes to wearing religious symbols or expressing their beliefs, the consultation found.

Christians in particular feel discriminated against.

Christians said they were mocked for their beliefs by colleagues who assumed they were bigoted.

Jewish and Muslim respondents also reported discrimination, such as finding it hard to get time off work, even as part of their normal annual leave, for religious observance. Others alleged that they were excluded from meetings, or passed over for promotion or recruitment due to their beliefs. They felt unable to raise the issue for fear of repercussions...”

Judge convicts Christian for voicing Bible verse

March 26, 2015 -- WND.com reports: “A Christian street preacher convicted and fined by a U.K. judge, who also serves with an Islamic Shariah court, is guilty of having breached the public order by his choice of Bible verses.

Michael Overd, a former British paratrooper who has been street preaching for five years, was convicted this week of delivering ‘homophobic sermons’ over a loudspeaker in Taunton, Somerset, last summer.

Overd faced two charges relating to claims by homosexuals he had offended them and another of causing ‘racially aggravated’ harassment targeted at Muslims, the BBC reported. He was found guilty of only one of the ‘homophobic’ charges.

Overd, 50, was fined $300 and ordered to pay compensation and costs totaling $1,800 at Bristol Crown Court.

‘I have been ordered to pay compensation for causing ‘emotional pain’ to someone who approached me aggressively demanding to debate the issue,’ said Overd. ‘There was no harm, injury or theft, just a simple disagreement over theology which I have now been fined for.’

District Judge Shamim Ahmed Qureshi told Overd he should not have referenced Leviticus chapter 20 in explaining the biblical view on homosexuality, but ‘clearly indicated that he could have used chapter 18 of the book,’ reported Christian Concern.

Qureshi, who according to a 2009 article in ‘The Brief,’ chronicling the rise of Shariah law in Britain, serves with the Muslim Arbitration Tribunal, the overseer of the nation’s Shariah courts.

Qureshi found no problem with Overd’s use of Leviticus 18:22 which describes homosexual activity as an ‘abomination,’ but a reference to Leviticus 20:13 was impermissible because it prescribed the death penalty...”

‘No more Christians in Mideast within 2 years’

March 30, 2015 -- WND.com reports: “If the U.S. and international community do not intervene, Christians may be driven out of the Middle Eastern Arab countries within two years, warned Lebanese parliamentarian Samy Gemayel during a radio interview Sunday.

Gemayel, a senior member of the Phalange Party, descends from a historic Lebanese Christian family.

His father, Amin, was the country’s president, while his brother, Pierre, was a member of parliament and a government minister before his assassination Nov. 21, 2006. Samy Gemayel’s uncle, former president-elect Bashir Gemayel, also was assassinated.

Speaking on ‘Aaron Klein Investigative Radio,’ broadcast on New York’s AM 970 The Answer and Philadelphia’s NewsTalk 990, Gemayel warned Christians and moderate

Muslims are victims of two extremist forces fighting each other.

He stated: ‘Today all the moderates in the region are taken between two big extremists powers. On one side you have ISIS and on the other side you have the Islamic state of Iran.

‘So you have two Islamic states with two very extremist ideologies fighting against each other. And the moderates are stuck in a sandwich between these two powers.’...”

THE ISLAMIC STATE

Terror triumvirate: ISIS, Al Qaeda, Boko Haram training together

March 24, 2015 -- Fox News reports: “The world’s three most infamous terrorist organizations are working together at Al-Qaeda-run training camps in the Sahara Desert in Mauritania, where dozens of recruits from the U.S., Canada and Europe are being indoctrinated into violent jihad and training for attacks that could expand the so-called caliphate across North and West Africa, according to analysts.

ISIS, Boko Haram and Al-Qaeda all have links to two camps in the remote sands of the expansive North African country, according to Veryan Khan, editorial director for the Florida-based Terrorism Research & Analysis Consortium, which tracks international terrorism and had a source on the ground in Mauritania. The sparsely populated Islamic Republic weathered Arab Spring demonstrations to remain stable, but shares a border with troubled Mali and is not far from Nigeria, where Boko Haram is based.

Islamic State likely trying to add al-Shabab to its ranks

March 27, 2015 -- Voice of America News reports: “Growing divisions within the leadership of the al-Shabab terror organization could soon push some, if not all, of the Somali-based outfit to pledge allegiance to the group known as the Islamic State.

Intelligence officials and analysts have been closely watching a developing rift between al-Shabab’s senior leaders, long loyal to al-Qaida, and younger commanders who appear enticed by the propaganda of the Islamic State militants. Now that Nigeria’s Boko Haram has formally sided with the Islamic State group, there’s a feeling that at least part of al-Shabab could be next.

‘I think there’s a high chance that al-Shabab joins ISIS within the coming weeks or few months,’ said the Jamestown Foundation’s Muhyadin Ahmed Roble, using one of several acronyms for the Islamic State militants. ‘Al-Qaida is not as influential and as powerful as it used to be and al-Shabab is trying to be on the winning side.’...”

Commencing jihad: ISIS tweets photos of military ‘graduation’

March 31, 2015 -- Fox News reports: “The black-clad graduates listened intently as speakers inspired them to change the world, but instead of caps and gowns, they wore masks and fatigues, and in place of diplomas, they clutched AK-47s.

Photos tweeted out from the Islamic State in Syria in the last few days showed the terror group’s latest ‘graduating class,’ which included dozens of foreign fighters who came to Syria to join the Islamic caliphate. The graduation pictures capped 18 months of training in ideology and weaponry at a university in Deir Az-Zour, in northern Syria, and grads are now ready to advance to killing in the cause of radical Islam. Experts say ISIS has reasons for attaching the formal trappings of commencement exercises to the training of its fighters.

‘There are two messages being sent by ISIS besides the obvious shock factor: First, their caliphate is an actual functioning and legitimate state. Second, this is long-term struggle,’ said Ryan Mauro, national security analyst and adjunct professor of Homeland Security for the Clarion Project. ‘This is a way of saying that ISIS has succeeded (in creating a state) where Al Qaeda, the Muslim Brotherhood and other Islamists have failed.’...”

Blueprint for Islamic caliphate by 2020

March 16, 2015 -- WND.com reports: “Back in 2005, Jordanian journalist Fouad Hussein published al-Qaida’s manifesto. In his book, he outlined al-Qaida’s seven-point plan over a 20-year period: ‘An Islamic Caliphate in Seven Easy Steps.’ Ten years later, we can see how al-Qaida and other Islamic jihad groups have followed this plan to the letter – with remarkable success, thanks to the weakness, fecklessness and willful ignorance of Western leaders.

Journalist Yassin Musharbash wrote about Hussein and his book in the German publication Der Spiegel on

Aug. 12, 2005, in an article entitled, ‘The Future of Terrorism: What al-Qaida Really Wants.’ Musharbash wrote, ‘What this small, slim man has to report is nothing less than the world’s most dangerous terrorist network’s plan of action: al-Qaida’s strategy for the next two decades. It is both frightening and absurd, a lunatic plan conceived by fanatics who live in their own world.’

Der Spiegel appears to be laughing at the plan in this article. But read it now – 10 years on. Who’s laughing now? From Sept. 11 to ‘the awakening,’ the focus on Syria, the overthrow of secular Arab regimes, the declaration of the Caliphate – it’s all there. The article declares it ‘unworkable’ at the time – as well as ‘both frightening and absurd, a lunatic plan.’

Musharbash wrote: ‘And not to mention the terrorist agenda is simply unworkable: The idea that al-Qaida could set up a caliphate in the entire Islamic world is absurd. The 20-year plan is based mainly on religious ideas. It hardly has anything to do with reality.’

Has anyone contacted Yassin Musharbash, read that passage to him, and asked him what he thinks of the Islamic State’s declaration of the caliphate, and of the tens of thousands of Muslims from all over the world who take that declaration seriously enough to travel to Iraq and Syria to live and wage jihad in the caliphate?...”

Iran militia chief: destroying Israel is ‘nonnegotiable’

April 1, 2015 -- The Times of Israel reports: “The commander of the Basij militia of Iran’s Revolutionary Guards said that ‘erasing Israel off the map’ is ‘nonnegotiable,’ according to an Israel Radio report Tuesday.

Militia chief Mohammad Reza Naqdi also threatened Saudi Arabia, saying that the offensive it is leading in Yemen ‘will have a fate like the fate of Saddam Hussein.’

Naqdi’s comments were made public as Iran and six world powers prepared Tuesday to issue a general statement agreeing to continue nuclear negotiations in a new phase aimed at reaching a comprehensive accord by the end of June.

In 2014, Naqdi said Iran was stepping up efforts to arm West Bank Palestinians for battle against Israel, adding the move would lead to Israel’s annihilation, Iran’s Fars news agency reported.

‘Arming the West Bank has started and weapons will be supplied to the people of this region,’ Naqdi said.

‘The Zionists should know that the next war won’t be confined to the present borders and the Mujahedeen will push them back,’ he added. PM pans world silence over Iran general’s call to destroy Israel

April 1, 2015 -- Israel National News reports: “Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu responded Wednesday to yesterday’s statement by a senior Iranian military official that Israel should be ‘wiped of the map’, once again criticizing international powers for softening their stance on Iran’s nuclear program while Tehran simultaneously pursues an ever more aggressive foreign policy.

‘Yesterday an Iranian general brazenly declared and I quote: ‘Israel’s destruction is non-negotiable’, but evidently giving Iran’s murderous regime a clear path to the bomb is negotiable,’ Netanyahu said of the comments by the Commander of Iran’s Basij (volunteer) Force, Brigadier General Mohammad Reza Naqdi.

‘This is unconscionable,’ Netanyahu declared.

‘I agree with those who have said that Iran’s claim that its nuclear program is only for peaceful purposes doesn’t square with Iran’s insistence on keeping underground nuclear facilities, advanced centrifuges and a heavy water reactor,’ he added. ‘Nor does it square with Iran’s insistence on developing ICBMs (Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles) and its refusal to come clean with the IAEA on its past weaponization efforts.’...”

Malaysia under pressure to implement Sharia law... impalement and crucifixion

March 19, 2015 -- ChristianToday.com reports: “Calls by Malaysia’s Islamist opposition party for strict Islamic law that includes amputations and stonings is symptomatic of a drift to more conservative Islam in politics and could further strain relations in the multi-ethnic country.

The push by the Islamist Parti Islam se-Malaysia (PAS) for the laws, known as hudud, also threatens to split a fragile opposition coalition that has been challenging the long-ruling Muslim party and its allies.

The disparate three-party opposition alliance that includes PAS won the popular vote for the first time in Malaysia’s history in a 2013 election.

4. Islam orders unmarried fornicators to be whipped, put to death, and adulterers to be stoned.

5. Islam commands all homosexuals to be executed.

6. Islam commands that highway robbers should be crucified or mutilated.

7. Islam commands that a male and female thief must have a hand cut off.

9. Islam allows husbands to beat their wives.

Mayor takes stand against Muslim Shariah courts

March 25, 2015 -- WND.com reports: “When a group of imams tried to bring a form of ‘Shariah light’ to Texas, they met an unlikely foe – Irving Mayor Beth Van Duyne.

Now, Van Duyne has been thrust into the national media spotlight, and her city is being called ‘ground zero’ in the battle to prevent Islamic law from gaining a foothold, no matter how small, in the U.S. legal system.

Van Duyne’s name and picture has popped up on Facebook pages and Twitter feeds across America in recent days, casting her with equal enthusiasm as villain or hero, depending on one’s political outlook.

She’s either the mayor who stood up to the Muslim Brotherhood or the ‘Islamophobic bigot’ looking to cash in politically on fears about Islamic terrorism.

The media frenzy was touched off by reports that an Islamic tribunal was being set up in the Dallas, Texas, area. A group of imams from surrounding mosques would sit on what they call a ‘mediation panel,’ as defacto judges, and mediate disputes between Muslims who voluntarily submit to its edicts. They denied this was a Shariah court, saying the panel would mete out nonbinding decisions in business disputes, divorces and other family matters ‘in full accordance with the law.’

Van Duyne wrote a blistering Facebook post last month in which she vowed to ‘fight with every fiber of my being against this action.’...”
