Britain votes to leave EU, Cameron quits as markets dive

June 24, 2016 -- Reuters reports: “Britain voted to leave the European Union, forcing the resignation of Prime Minister David Cameron and dealing the biggest blow to the European project of greater unity since World War Two.

Global financial markets plunged on Friday as results from a referendum showed a near 52 - 48 percent split for leaving a bloc that Britain joined more than 40 years ago.

The pound fell as much as 10 percent against the dollar to touch levels last seen in 1985, on fears the decision could hit investment in the world’s fifth-largest economy, threaten London’s role as a global financial capital and usher in months of political uncertainty.

World stocks headed for one of the biggest slumps on record, and billions of dollars were wiped off the value of European companies. Britain’s big banks took a $130 billion battering, with Lloyds (LLOY.L) and Barclays (BARC.L) falling as much as 30 percent at the opening of trade. [MKTS/GLOB]

The United Kingdom itself could now break apart, with the leader of Scotland – where nearly two-thirds of voters wanted to stay in the EU – saying a new referendum on independence from the rest of Britain was ‘highly likely’...” (For years I believed that when Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxemburg became the beginning of the ten toes of Daniel’s image in Daniel 2:41, 42, and 44, plus chapter seven and the ten horns of Revelation 13:1, that this was the beginning of the New World Order, especially when England joined and then Greece as number 10 in 1981. June 27, 2016 -- Bloomberg.com reports: “The upheaval in the U.K. after its Brexit referendum in favor of leaving the European Union has similarities to the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union, according to Russian President Vladimir Putin’s spokesman.

While it’s ‘unreasonable to draw direct parallels,’ it’s obvious that the U.K. is going through a ‘turbulent, confusing and unpredictable period,’ Dmitry Peskov told reporters on a conference call Monday. The German politician told Die Welt that EU countries need to cooperate more closely on issues of defense, and suggested the EU needs a military headquarters. He said:

The foreign ministers of France and Germany are due to reveal a blueprint to effectively do away with individual member states in what is being described as an ‘ultimatum’.

Under the radical proposals EU

Just days after Brexit, EU releases plan for further expansion, an EU army, AND Turkish membership is going through an ‘existential crisis’ that can only be solved through more military integration, Turkish accession and the creation of a ‘true union’, EU chiefs have said.

In a document on the political union’s foreign policy objectives in light of the UK’s vote to leave, EU officials call for a ‘stronger Europe’ that draws on ‘the combined weight of a true union’.

EU foreign policy chief Federica Mogherini points out in the foreword that ‘the European Union currently deploys seventeen military and civilian operations, with thousands of men and women serving under the European flag for peace and security’ before calling for further integration.

The document adds that the EU needs ‘full spectrum defense capabilities’, and although it claims members states will ‘remain sovereign’ in decisions of defense, it goes on to say: ‘To acquire and maintain many of these capabilities, defense cooperation must become the norm.’...”

July 7, 2016 -- Voice of America News reports: “For the first time, the United States has put North Korea’s leader on the U.S. sanctions list for human rights abuses.

Kim Jong Un is among nearly two-dozen entities and individuals placed on Washington’s blacklist for their role in serious human rights violations, hunting down defectors or censorship in North Korea.

‘We have identified 23 individuals and entities in our report, one of those individuals is Kim Jong Un, we have made the judgment that he is rather plainly, ultimately responsible for the

South Korea, U.S. to deploy THAAD missile defense, drawing China rebuke

50 killed in shooting at Florida nightclub in possible act of Islamic terror

ISIS claimed responsibility for the attack Sunday afternoon via its Amaq news agency, Reuters reported. It was not clear, however, if the shooting was actually directed by the terror group or only inspired by it.

The attack in Orlando at Pulse, which bills itself as 'the hottest gay bar' in the city and was packed with more than 300 people for 'Latin Night,' was reported minutes after 2 a.m. Sunday. 'Truthful to his Lord': Islamic State American praises Orlando jihadi Mateen in video

June 21, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: "An official propaganda arm of the Islamic State has released a video praising Omar Mateen, the jihadi responsible for last week's massacre at a gay club in Orlando, Florida. The video features the English-speaking jihadi Abu Isma'il al-Amriki asserting that the United States is 'at war with Allah.'

Soldiers beheaded, churches destroyed and constant fear: Syrian Christian on life under ISIS in Raqqa

June 29, 2016 -- ChristianToday.com reports: "A Syrian Christian who lived in ISIS-stronghold Raqqa has described the horror of living under militant rule.

John (name changed for protection), a student in his early 20s, recalled in an interview with persecution charity Open Doors the day that Raqqa was overrun by Islamic State on January 13, 2014.

'They were coming from Iraq with tanks, military vehicles, and even a big rocket that was at least five meters in length,' he said. 'It was very intimidating.'

ISIS militants gathered together the church leaders in Raqqa and gave them the now infamous ultimatum levelled at Christians all over its self-proclaimed caliphate: flee, convert to Islam, or pay the 'jizya' tax for the right to remain in the city.

At the beginning of 2014 there were around 1,500 Christian families living in Raqqa. After ISIS took over, just 50 remained; the rest having chosen to flee.

John's family, forbidden from selling or renting their property and afraid of losing their business, decided to stay and pay the jizya, which was initially 54,000 Syrian pounds per man. Last year, that figure more than tripled.

Paying the tax meant they were free to live in Raqqa, but life under ISIS militants was brutal.

July 1, 2016 -- The Times of Israel reports: "A resolution issued in Iran to mark Friday's anti-Israel al-Quds Day openly calls for the elimination of 'the cancerous tumor of Israel,' and declares this 'noble cause' as the top priority for the Muslim world.

The text of the resolution was published by the semi-state Fars News Agency, which said it was adopted by the vast numbers of Iranians who took to the streets across the country on Friday to demonstrate against Israel and its allies, including the United States.

'We Iranians as a united and integrated nation see liberation of the Holy Quds (Jerusalem), rescuing the oppressed and defenseless Palestinian nation from the dominance of the fake Zionist regime, and efforts aimed at eliminating the cancerous tumor of Israel as the noble cause of the Islamic Revolution,' Fars quoted the resolution as saying. This goal is the 'first priority of the Muslim World and the only way to confront the illegitimate and criminal Zionist regime,' the text continued.
