HOLY WAR?

Islamic State answers Pope Francis: Ours is a religious war and we hate you

August 2, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: "The Islamic State terror group has come out publicly to reject Pope Francis' claims that the war being waged by Islamic terrorists is not religious in nature, assuring the pontiff that their sole motivation is religious and sanctioned by Allah in the Qur'an.

In the most recent issue of Dabiq, the propaganda magazine of the Islamic State, ISIS criticizes Pope Francis for his naïveté in clinging to the conviction that Muslims want peace and that acts of Islamic terror are economically motivated.

'This is a divinely-warranted war between the Muslim nation and the nations of disbelief,' the authors state in an article titled 'By the Sword...' (Pope Francis in seeking peace and support from Muslim nations was told by these Muslim murderers – if you tell the world that we Muslim killers are a religion of peace, we will work together with you as a Christian Pope. He did what they demanded in his famous speech Evangelii Gaudium.

But this article proves that ISIS is an organization controlled by liars and brute beasts – Jude 1:10 – who want to kill every Jew and Christian. See the next three murderous reports against the Catholic Church and its leaders.)

Islamic State tries to trigger 'war of religions' in West

August 2, 2016 -- Voice of America News reports: "The Islamic State (IS) is inciting supporters to mount more attacks on Christians just days after two of the terror group's sympathizers slit the throat of an 85-year-old French priest as he was celebrating Mass — a killing French officials fear was a deliberate tactic to provoke a Christian backlash in France against Muslims.

The latest issue of IS's online magazine Dabiq, widely read by supporters and sympathizers, focuses on the theme of 'Break the Cross.' In a series of interviews, foreign fighters who have converted from Christianity are used as mouthpieces to urge supporters in the West to destroy 'arrogant Christian disbelievers.' They exhort Muslims to 'pray for Allah's curse to be upon the liars.'..."

Paris Cardinal: Islamists worship a 'God of death'

July 31, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: "Mincing no words, French Cardinal André Vingt-Trois told the Christian faithful this week that jihadists 'wrap themselves in the trappings of religion' while announcing a 'God of death,' whom the prelate compared to the ancient pagan god 'Moloch'—who demanded live human sacrifices as a tribute.

The Cardinal, who serves as archbishop of Paris, pronounced these words during the homily at a memorial Mass Wednesday celebrated for the martyred priest Father Jacques Hamel, whose throat two Islamic radicals slit during morning Mass this past Tuesday.

The comparison between the 'Allah' of the Islamists and the heinous 'Moloch' of ancient pagan peoples is especially severe, given that Christians have generally understood Muslims to be an Abrahamic religion, and a 'people of the book.' Moloch, on the contrary, was a vicious god who demanded infant sacrifices, often identified with the Carthaginian god Baal.

'Those who wrap themselves in the trappings of religion to mask their deadly project,' Vingt-Trois said, 'those who want to announce to us a God of death, a Moloch that would rejoice at the death of a man and promise paradise to those who kill while invoking him, these cannot expect humanity to yield to their delusion.’...”

French church attack: Priest's throat slit in hostage-taking near Rouen

July 26, 2016 -- ChristianToday.com reports: “A French priest has been killed in a hostage attack in a church, a police source told Reuters on Tuesday.

The priest, named as Father Jacques Hamel, had his throat slit while celebrating mass in a church in the small town of Saint-Etienne-du-Rouvray, near Rouen. One other was seriously wounded and is ‘fighting for their life’, said the French interior ministry.

The two assailants burst into the small church during morning mass and took five people hostage in the church in northern France. The hostages included two nuns and two worshippers as well as the priest, who was in his 80s, according to BFM TV.

The two hostage takers have been shot dead by police. French police confirmed they had ‘neutralized’ the two men, who were armed with blades.

The identity and the motives of the attackers was unknown. There is no confirmation this was an Islamist attack despite speculation...”

French church attack: Faith leaders call for more security

July 27, 2016 -- BBC News reports: “French religious leaders have called for more security at places of worship following the murder of an elderly priest in Normandy on Tuesday.

Representatives of Christian, Muslim, Jewish and Buddhist faiths spoke after meeting President Hollande.

Father Jacques Hamel was killed while conducting morning mass in his church.

One of the two men who attacked him was wearing an electronic surveillance tag, which was temporarily turned off under his probation conditions.

The killing came 12 days after the attack in Nice in which 84 people died.

Muslim leader Dalil Boubakeur, rector of Paris’s Grand Mosque, said the leaders ‘deeply desire that our places of worship are the subject of greater security focus, a sustained focus’, as even ‘the most humble place of worship’ can be subject to an attack.

Tuesday’s attack took place in an ordinary Catholic church in a suburb of Rouen...” (Christians should arm themselves with the best of weapons. British clergy advised to increase security as London warned: You’re next July 27, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: “Church officials have been advised to tighten their security measures following the beheading of a Catholic priest by Islamist militants in France yesterday. The advice comes amid warnings that an attack on British soil is ‘highly likely’.

Although there is no specific intelligence relating to possible attacks on the Christian community, the heinous murder of Father Jacques Hamel, targeted as he celebrated Mass in a provincial church just south of Rouen, has highlighted the potential danger to Christian clergy from Islamic terrorism.

Consequently, the National Police Chiefs’ Council is urging the Christian community to be alert to potential threats but not alarmed, to report any concerns, and to review their security measures.

Deputy Assistant Commissioner Neil Basu said: ‘Following recent events in France, we are reiterating our protective security advice to Christian places of worship and have circulated specific advice today. We are also taking this opportunity to remind them to review their security arrangements as a precaution...” (Imagine! The new mayor of London is a Muslim. Analysis: Islamic State’s first act of war on European Christianity

July 27, 2016 -- The Jerusalem Post reports: “ISIS has already been waging war on Christians in Iraq and Syria, committing countless atrocities.

Regardless of whether Tuesday’s attack was the work of Islamic State or whether it was merely inspired by the jihadi rhetoric emanating from the so-called caliphate, its symbolism is hard to ignore.

Previous attacks in France perpetrated by Islamic State and in its name have been against freedom of speech (Charlie Hebdo), Western liberalism (the Bataclan theater), the ideals of the French Revolution, which stand at the heart of Western thought (the Bastille Day truck attack in Nice) and against Jews (Hyper Cacher).

Now, Islamic State has successfully committed its first act of war on European Christianity itself by taking hostages in a church and slitting the throat of an octogenarian priest as they forced him to kneel and then filmed themselves preaching in Arabic at the altar...” (These Islamic religious maniacs strive to blasphemously practice John 16:2 – “...whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God [their god Allah] service.” Revelation 20:4 adds: “...I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God...” See the next three reports.)

WORLDWIDE JIHAD

Nice attack: At least 84 killed during Bastille Day celebrations

July 15, 2016 -- BBC News reports: “At least 84 people have died, including children, after a lorry slammed through a crowd celebrating Bastille Day in the southern French city of Nice.

The driver ploughed on for 2km (1.2 miles) on the Promenade des Anglais at about 23:00 local time, before being shot dead by police.

Witnesses say the speeding lorry swerved and zigzagged in an apparent attempt to hit more people.

Police reportedly found guns and grenades inside the lorry.

President Francois Hollande said the attack was of ‘an undeniable terrorist nature’.

Prime Minister Manuel Valls has declared three days of national mourning for the victims from Saturday.

A state of emergency, in place since November’s Paris attacks carried out by militants from the Islamic State group, in which 130 people died, has been extended by three months.

The attack in Nice began shortly after the end of a firework display on the seafront for Bastille Day, which is the country’s national holiday...”

Nice attack was ‘premeditated, prepared and planned’

July 19, 2016 -- Israel National News reports: “New details continue to emerge about Mohammed Lahouaiej-Bouhlel, the Tunisian-French man who drove a truck into a crowd in Nice’s Promenade De Anglais on Bastille Day last Thursday night, killing 84.

Prosecutor Francois Molin outlined the preliminary findings of the police investigation into Bouhlel’s background at a press conference yesterday (Monday).

Widespread reports had already indicated that Bouhlel, though from a Muslim background, was never seen to be religious by family and friends. Molin confirmed this, saying the Bouhlel ‘ate pork, drank alcohol, took drugs and had a promiscuous sex life.’

However, there were recent indications that he was taking a greater interest in Jihadist ideology. According to Molin, Bouhlel’s computer contained very ‘violent images’ from radical Islamic websites, as well as links to Jihadi sites, research about the recent shootings in Orlando and Dallas, and research into Osama bin Laden and the Algerian terrorist leader Mokhtar Belmokhtar.

In addition, the terms ‘horrible accident’, ‘terrible fatal accident’ and ‘shocking video, not for sensitive souls’ had been recently searched on his computer.

In conversation with police detectives, one witness said that in the context of a conversation about ISIS videos of beheadings posted online, Bouhlel had said ‘I’m used to seeing that’. Other witnesses said that he’d grown a beard over the week before he committed the attack, and told acquaintances that the reasons for growing the beard were religious...”

ISIS supporters celebrate on social media as Hollande calls Nice tragedy ‘clearly terror’

July 15, 2016 -- The Jerusalem Post reports: “Supporters of Islamic State celebrated on social media an attack in France by a truck that ran into crowds watching a fireworks display on the Bastille Day national holiday, killing at least 80 people and injuring over 100.

‘The number of those killed had reached 62 French crusaders and sinful infidels in Nice, France... God is great, God is great,’ read one tweet as details of the terror attack were emerging.

‘Oh France, you and the all Europe will never be secure until we will live secure on every inch in the land of the Caliphate,’ wrote another user.

‘This is the beginning of the attack to take the holy revenge for the killing of Abu Omar Shishani, may Allah accept him,’ another said on an ISIS forum.

Police sources close to the investigation told agency Reuters that the gunman is believed to be a 31-year-old Franco-Tunisian born in Tunisia...

President Francois Hollande said at least 80 people were killed in an attack in which the assailant drove a big truck at high speed into dense crowds who were watching a fireworks display on the country’s national Bastille Day holiday.

Bastille Day terrorist deploys car-ramming tactic popularized by Palestinians

July 15, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: “The suspected terrorist gunman who killed 80 people and wounded scores of others during Bastille Day celebrations in the French Riviera city of Nice late on Thursday seemed to have taken a page out of the Palestinian jihadist playbook of vehicular terrorism.

For several years now, Palestinian terrorists have deployed the deadly tactic of plowing vehicles into pedestrians and then attempting to continue their assaults with stabbings or shootings.

Islamic State celebrates Munich attack: ‘Everything hurting infidels makes us happy’

July 24, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: “Islamic State and their supporters have been celebrating the Munich gun attack as though they orchestrated the event, although no links have been found between the killer and Islamist organizations.

Following the news that an 18-year-old Iranian-German had opened fire in a McDonald’s restaurant and mall in Munich, killing nine and injuring 21 others, Twitter accounts run by supporters of Islamic state claimed that the organization is ‘expanding into Europe,’ while one of Islamic State’s main propaganda channels claimed the ‘Whole Europe [sic] is now under our terrorism.’

London police chief: It’s not ‘if’ Britain is hit by terrorists, but ‘when’

July 31, 2016 -- ChristianToday.com reports: “Britain cannot be fully protected against terrorism and an attack similar to those seen recently in mainland Europe is a question of ‘when, not if,’ London’s police chief said on Sunday.

The warning by Metropolitan Police Commissioner Bernard Hogan-Howe reflects Britain’s current ‘severe’ threat level for international terrorism and follows a string of attacks in Germany and France, some of which have been linked to Islamic militants.

Hogan-Howe acknowledged that people in Britain were becoming increasingly worried they could be next.

‘I feel and understand that fear, and as the police officer in charge of preventing such an attack, know that you want me to reassure you. I am afraid I cannot do that entirely,’ he said in a blog posted online on Sunday and printed in the Mail on Sunday newspaper.

Islamic State calls on members to carry out jihad in Russia

August 1, 2016 -- Reuters reports: “Islamic State called on its group members to carry out jihad in Russia in a nine-minute YouTube video on Sunday.

The video with subtitles showed footage of armed men attacking armored vehicles and tents and collecting arms in the desert. ‘Breaking into a barrack of the Rejectionist military on the international road south Akashat,’ read one subtitle.

It was not immediately possible to independently verify the video but the link to the footage was published on a Telegram messaging account used by the militant group.

Faster speeding bullets: Russia test-fires its own railgun

July 25, 2016 -- SpaceDaily.com reports: “A team of Russian scientists has successfully tested the country’s first railgun, which relies on electromagnetic forces rather than explosives or propellant, according to RIA Novosti.

Railguns are powered by electromagnetic conductors instead of gunpowder or explosives, allowing them to inflict major damage; Russian scientists have successfully test-fired the country’s first such weapon.

According to scientists, they managed to use the device to fire bullets at an incredibly fast velocity of 11 kilometers per second (regular military guns fire bullets at about 2 km/s). This is something that they said is enough to allow an object to overcome gravity and reach the Earth’s orbit, and almost enough to allow it to enter outer space.

As weapons, railguns could prove to be especially effective in that the high kinetic energy possessed by the projectiles they fire using electromagnetic forces allows them to ably penetrate objects such as armor or ship bulkheads.

Russia creating cutting-edge universal nuclear battleship

July 28, 2016 -- SpaceWar.com reports: “Russia’s Severnoye Design Bureau has started working on the Project 23560 Leader-class destroyer that will combine the features of a destroyer, large antisubmarine warship and guided missile cruiser. The ship will most likely be nuclear powered. It will be capable of spending up to 90 days offshore without additional refueling or support.

‘The Leader will be a universal ship, triple-hatted as a destroyer, large ASW ship and guided missile cruiser while being smaller than Project 1144 ships and carrying far more weaponry,’ news publication The Defence Talk reported Valeriy Polovinki, advisor to the director general of the Krylov State Research Center that worked out the destroyer’s preliminary design military, as saying.

He further said that the self-contained operation of such ships is usually based on their stock of provisions and their nuclear propulsion plants can go on without refueling for years.

The Leader-class destroyers are expected to be equipped with Kalibr-NK cruise missiles and S-500 air defense systems.

As exhibited by its mockup, the destroyer will be 200 meters long and 20 meters wide. It will be able to travel at a maximum speed of 32 knots.

China schedules military drills with Russia in South China Sea

July 29, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: “The Chinese government has announced that it will hold naval drills with the Russian military in the South China Sea in September, a move following an international court verdict stating that China does not have sovereignty over most of the South China Sea.

The Chinese defense ministry has described the joint military operation as ‘routine’ and ‘aimed at strengthening the developing China-Russia strategic cooperative partnership.’ It has explicitly denied that the drill is a ploy to flex collective military muscle and scare off ‘third parties.’ A defense ministry spokesman affirmed the exercise was necessary to ‘deepen mutual trust and expand cooperation, raise the ability to jointly deal with security threats, and benefit the maintenance of regional and global peace and stability.’

It is unclear whether the operations will take place in disputed South China Sea territory. China claims most of the major trade route, including areas that are the sovereign territory of Vietnam, Taiwan, Brunei, Malaysia, and the Philippines. Earlier this month, China lost a case against the Philippines at the Permanent Court of Arbitration at the Hague. The court found that China’s claims were unfounded and that it must cease its illegal military and fishing activities in the region.

China, in turn, called the verdict a ‘farce,’ once again asserted that the territory belonging to its neighbors had been Chinese since ‘ancient times,’ and vowed to ignore the verdict completely. According to Chinese state media, the verdict was orchestrated by ‘eunuch’ American and Japanese officials to embarrass China...”

Honor killing: Gang dismembers Pakistani man for alleged affair

July 22, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: "Allah Ditta, 24, was stabbed repeatedly before five men cut off his arms, lips, and nose, leaving him to bleed to death in Dera Ghazi Khan district, Pakistan. Ditta had allegedly had 'an affair' with a woman who wished to elope with him but was forced by family to remain with her husband.

This is the latest incident in a pattern of 'honor killing' throughout the southeast Asian nation, in which family members kill relatives, or those of their spouses, as a response to alleged moral transgressions.

U.S. preparing for Islamic State's 'terrorist diaspora'

July 15, 2016 -- Voice of America News reports: "Top U.S. counterterrorism and law enforcement officials are offering grim warnings about what awaits once the Islamic State terror group's self-declared caliphate ultimately collapses.

Much of the U.S. and coalition strategy against IS has been predicated on the idea that without the ability to hold territory in Iraq and Syria, the terror group will falter, unable to make good on its promise of a utopian society.

Yet as the fall of the IS caliphate looks to draw nearer, U.S. officials are increasingly cautious, saying the group will remain a dynamic and formidable threat for some time to come.

'We all know there will be a terrorist diaspora out of the caliphate,' FBI Director James Comey told the House Homeland Security Committee on Thursday.

According to the clip’s narrator, ‘the mujahideen of the Al-Qassam Brigades [Hamas’s military wing] are training the participating youngsters in various skills, and are guarding them and helping them along their road to freedom and victory.’

One teen told the camera he and his friends were there ‘to prepare ourselves for the final and decisive battle with the tyrannical occupation that defiled our land and our holy places’ and ‘to take revenge upon the tyrannical Zionist occupation.’...” (I repeat what I said earlier quoting Isaiah 56:5 the Almighty God says “...I will give Israel an everlasting name...” Everlasting or eternal cannot be translated any other way. And God means what he says.)

Court: Woman paid for drugs by allowing drug dealer to repeatedly rape 11-year-old daughter

July 22, 2016 -- Breitbart.com reports: “Calling it the ‘worst thing’ she has ever seen, a disgusted judge in Ohio lambasted a woman after being found guilty of allowing her drug dealer to repeatedly rape her 11-year-old daughter in exchange for drugs to feed her addiction.

A. C., 32, was sentenced to 51 years to life in prison for handing her defenseless daughter over to a drug dealer, who perpetrated months of horrible sexual abuse on the child.

According to police, A.C. allowed the 40-year-old abuser to rape her child in every manner possible in exchange for drugs. The dealer even videotaped the sexual abuse, police said.

A. C. ‘didn’t have the means or the cash to buy her heroin anymore from her drug dealer. ... So she offered up her child in return,’ Assistant Hamilton County prosecutor Katie Pridemore said during the trial.

Hamilton County Pleas Court’s Judge Leslie Ghiz was utterly disgusted by the revelations at the trial. ‘I can honestly say that, in three-and-a-half years on the bench, this is by far the worst thing that has come before this court,’ Ghiz said.

‘You showed no kind of mercy,’ the judge added. ‘I don’t know that you grasp the damage that has been done to this poor child.’...” (This drug dealer and wicked mother will be in hell forever – “...whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him [or her] that a millstone were hanged about his [or her] neck, and that he [or she] were drowned in the depth of the sea. Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man [or woman] by whom the offence cometh! Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire” – Matthew 18:6 – 8.)
